IN THIS ISSUE:
- Two New Databases: Science Direct and Web of Science
- Traveling to Another Arkansas Library? Get an ARKLink Card
- JSTOR Adds 16 More Journals

TWO NEW DATABASES: SCIENCE DIRECT AND WEB OF SCIENCE

- The Library has begun subscriptions to two major databases in the sciences that greatly enhance ASU’s online content.

Science Direct is one of the premier databases supplying abstracts and full-text content to journals in the sciences. While we were unable to subscribe to all of Science Direct’s full text journal content, we now have full access to all articles published from 2001 to the present for 368 journals through this resource.

In addition to the full text content, Science Direct contains abstracts to articles from thousands of journals, and faculty (and students) can either order those articles through Interlibrary Loan, or you can set up a personal login with Science Direct that will allow you to purchase a copy of the article with either a personal or departmental credit card.

The Library has also subscribed to the Science Citation Index portion of Web of Science. In addition to the more traditional searching options, such as searching for records by topic, author name, source title, etc., you can also perform a cited reference search, which searches for articles that cite other works that are referenced in the database.

Web of Science provides abstracts for articles, and article citations also include key words supplied by the author and author addresses (when available).
All Library databases, including Science Direct and Web of Science, can be accessed from the Library’s Databases page. If you have questions about or need assistance with any of the Library’s databases, stop by the Information Desk in the Library or call 972-3208.

TRAVELING TO ANOTHER ARKANSAS LIBRARY? GET AN ARKLINK CARD

- If you will be visiting another academic library in Arkansas and would like to check out books while you are there, stop by the Circulation Desk in the Dean B. Ellis Library and apply for an ARKLink Card.

The ARKLink card allows ASU faculty and students the privilege of borrowing library materials from other colleges and universities in Arkansas. Participating institutions set their own policies regarding borrowing privileges for ARKLink cardholders. For a full list of all participating libraries, click here.

Books borrowed by using the ARKLink card can be returned to the Dean B. Ellis Library and we will ship the books back to the lending library.

ARKLink is a nonprofit consortium of Arkansas academic libraries.

JSTOR ADDS 16 MORE JOURNALS

- The JSTOR archive of full-images of scholarly journals has recently added 16 more journals to their content.

The recently added journals are: British Journal of Sociology of Education; Buddhist-Christian Studies; Bulletin of the American Schools of Oriental Research; Feminist Review; International Statistical Review / Revue Internationale de Statistique; Journal for the Scientific Study of Religion; Journal of Agricultural, Biological, and Environmental Statistics; Journal of Business & Economic Statistics; Journal of Computational and Graphical Statistics; Journal of Law and Society; Law and Human Behavior; Modern Judaism; Near Eastern Archaeology; Philosophy East and West; Sociological Perspectives; and Wicazo Sa Review

Faculty are encouraged to submit feedback or ask questions about topics covered in this newsletter. To do so, email Jeff Bailey, Head of Public Services at jbailey@astate.edu.

All back issues of this newsletter can be viewed online at http://www.library.astate.edu/newsletter.

6/29/2005